Kindergarten classes of the Appomattox Primary School recently enjoyed hearing Dr. Bonney, a local dentist, tell them what they can do to practice good dental hygiene. Dr. Bonney demonstrated the correct procedure for brushing teeth by using a model of the teeth. This visit from Dr. Bonney reinforced classroom studies on dental health. Pictured with Dr. Bonney are from left to right, Megin Gregor, Katrina Johns, Crystal Watson and Mrs. Linda Clinedinst, (student teacher).

MRS. JARJA DAVIS OF WASHINGTON, D. C. AREA, a professional 'storyteller,' spent two days last week at Appomattox Primary School telling stories to students. The two-day visit was sponsored by the Appomattox Primary School P.T.A. Cultural Arts Committee. The students were very attentive and Mrs. Davis was never heard telling the same story twice.

ON FEB. 13 THE SENIOR CHAPTER FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA met in the auditorium at ACHS. For the program, Mrs. Smith's, Mrs. Elliot's and Miss Royal's Home Economics classes competed against each other in a "FHA Family Feud" game. Shown above are the winners: Mrs. Smith's second period class - Craig Smith, Angie Richardson, Gary Moore, host, and Pam Ford.

Animal shelter open

Appomattox County Animal Shelter is now open and is operating Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. until 12 noon except on holidays. The shelter, located at the county landfill opened Feb. 18.

If you have a dog or pet that you no longer want, carry it to the animal shelter, don't dump it along the side of the road.

If the above hours are not convenient for you, call Bob Monigold at 352-7468 or call the sheriff's office and a convenient time will be set up. There is no charge for this service, the county is trying to get all stray animals off the roads and off private property. If you have an animal for adoption, call Monigold, and he will try and find it a good home.

Dog licenses are past due and a random check is being made throughout the county for unlicensed dogs. Citations are being issued if dogs are found without a license.

Homemakers set programs

Appomattox County Extension Homemakers are reminded of the programs for 1980, according to Revella Austin, reporter.

The following programs have been planned: microwave cookery; flower gardening - roses and seed exchange; parent for the young child; old china and glassware; self defense for women; vacation planning; Holiday Lake 4-H Educational Center development; grooming, hair styles and make-up; Chinese cookery; house plans; interior decorating; insurance, kind and types; counter cross stitch; and Christmas crafts and decorations.

In addition to these programs, plans are being made to conduct the following workshops: knitting; tailoring problems; textile painting; bread dough flowers; silk roses; beaded ornaments; lampshade making; tatting; macrame bags and hangers; chair seat weaving; women's guide to auto repair; first aid; flowers under glass; and needlepoint on plastic canvas.

Watch your monthly extension newsletter for time and place of these workshops.

Adult Ag. classes offered

The Agricultural Education Department at Appomattox County High School is offering a series of classes on topics of interest to farmers. These classes are being held on Thursday nights at 7:30 p.m. in the Pamplin Elementary School library.

Beginning on Feb. 14, the topic for discussion was "Energy Conservation". Mr. Henry Moore of the Cooperative Extension Service presented ideas concerning the conservation of energy around the farm and home. The application of solar energy for farm and residential use was also discussed.

Future classes will deal with such topics as corn varieties, soil conservation, wildlife management, and livestock health. All farmers and other interested individuals are encouraged to attend these informative meetings. If you have any questions please contact A. H. Carter at Appomattox County High School. The phone number is 352-7146.

WHY YOUR PHONE KEEPS WORKING WHEN THE T.V., LIGHTS AND TOASTER DON'T.

In the event of a power outage, it's good to know there are a couple of things you can depend on.

Like a reliable flashlight with a fresh set of batteries.

And your telephone.

Unlike regular electrical appliances, your telephone won't go dead during a blackout. That's because it's backed up by a secondary power system consisting of batteries and a standby generator.

But these batteries are unlike anything you'll find in a flashlight. Ours are large enough to fill a room.

The batteries are kept in constant charge by commercial power. Then if there is an outage they're switched on automatically until our standby generator has time to take over.

Naturally this system is more expensive than one relying solely on regular commercial power. But it helps make your phone system more dependable, particularly in the event of an emergency.

And we think it's important that you can depend on your telephone during the times when you depend upon it most.

Now is time to plant trees, say foresters

Now is the time to plant seedling trees on idle land, according to officials from the Appomattox office of the state Division of Forestry.

David Smith, chief forest warden for the county, says the various trees available through the Division will grow well on land that is badly eroded, cut-over, or otherwise idle. "Planting such land will make it once again productive", according to Smith.

Smith says a tree crop can control land erosion, protect the watershed of nearby rivers and streams, as well as provide cover for wildlife. In addition, a landowner can reap profits from wood products when a good tree crop is harvested, Smith says.

The local forestry office is prepared to help landowners in every phase of planning and starting a tree crop, according to Smith.

"Detailed planting instructions are furnished with each tree shipment," he says. In addition, foresters will help a landowner in organizing plant-
